Christian Benedictsen-Nislev is an experienced shipping and transport attorney.

Christian has a right of audience before the Danish Supreme Court and is recognised by Chambers, The Legal 500 and Who's Who Legal within Shipping and Transport.

In particular, he advises Danish and international transport and insurance companies as well as ports and public authorities and other businesses in the shipping and transport sectors.

He also assists enterprises dealing with international trade and transport.

Christian's advisory services extend to all aspects of shipping, transport and international trade. He advises on structuring and operations and provides assistance regarding shipbuilding contracts, the sale and purchase of ships and goods as well as financing, commercial contracts and corporate transactions.

In addition, he has vast experience of litigation and arbitration, including disputes concerning shipping, transport law, insurance and disclosure requirements applying to listed companies. Acting for clients such as A.P. Møller-Mærsk A/S, he has conducted and been successful in several cases of general public importance before the Danish courts.

Furthermore, Christian advises on regulatory issues and tendering procedures.

Christian is a qualified English solicitor and has extensive knowledge of English law and the common-law system. He provides advice on legal matters in both civil-law and common-law jurisdictions.

Christian has completed an Executive MBA in International Shipping and Logistics, which lends a deep commercial understanding and strategic insight to his advisory services.

He has also co-authored and co-published several publications.

Experience

Recent highlights

- Christian acts as a regular legal advisor to the Danish ferry secretariat (Færgesekretariatet) and its 18 member municipalities, which operate municipal ferry services. He provides assistance in relation to the standard ferry concept for small Danish islands and crossings, in which, on behalf of its member municipalities, the ferry secretariat is working on a comprehensive tendering project to replace and standardise the municipal ferry fleet as part of the green transition. An amount of DKK 1.5bn has been set aside for the project.
- Christian has assisted in the establishment of a new Danish shipping company within the dry cargo sector. The aggregate investment exceeded DKK 1bn, and the assignment involved establishing the company, including setting up and structuring the cooperation between the parties in Denmark, Germany and Greece.
- On behalf of A.P. Møller-Mærsk A/S, Christian conducted a lawsuit of general public importance regarding jurisdiction and the shipping company's standard conditions for cargo transport. Christian's client was successful in the proceedings before the Danish Supreme Court in 2021 against another large Danish transport company.
