Experience

Recent highlights	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Ida acted for an asset manager, which had been joined as a party to a complex and lengthy action regarding foreign currency hedging.• Ida acted for a major international group, partially owned by partners, in arbitration proceedings against two former shareholders. The subject matter of the proceedings was breach of contract and potential fraud in connection with the conclusion of a share purchase agreement and shareholders' agreement. The proceedings were extensive and complex, involving many testimonies as to what had been agreed between the parties prior to a merger.• Ida acted for two shareholders in a Danish company in a dispute against two other shareholders regarding the poor work efforts of the shareholders in question and thus their breach of the shareholders' agreement. A key issue in the case was evidence of the poor work efforts compared to the efforts promised prior to the subscription for shares.
